

Almost Back From The Edge: Living The Dream In Asia And Dying With Cancer

In 2004, Jodi and Mike Dennison sold everything they owned and bought one-way tickets to Kathmandu. Leaving everything behind, the start of their adventure was like being swept over a very large waterfall. The landing was in the Maoist-conflicted kingdom of Nepal, where no one's safety could be assured. After trekking the Himalayas they moved on to amazing experiences and adventures in India. This also brought cancer into their lives and altered their dreams forever. Eight months of care in a foreign country, 10 surgeries, 3 near death experiences and a return home with the expectation of death caused them both to understand life in a new and different way. This is their story. Fulfilling lifelong dreams and the loss of nearly everything. Throughout the story is the battle that we all face: making the most of what we have while we have it.
