

Death of the Presidents Dog (Electric Literatures Recommended Reading Book 7)

In her introduction, Jill Schoolman of Archipelago Books writes that Death of the Presidents Dog, from Miljenko Jergovic's new collection, seduces with the spareness of its downbeat prose and sparkles with a kind of gallows humor. Here, Jergovic presents the everyday ennui of a husband and wife coming to terms with her being confined to a wheelchair after a traffic accident that occurs in the wake of wartime chaos. About Recommended Reading: Great authors inspire us. But what about the stories that inspire them? Recommended Reading, the latest project from Electric Literature, publishes one story every week, each chosen by a great author or editor. In this age of distraction, we uncover writing that's worth slowing down and spending some time with. And in doing so, we help give great writers, literary magazines, and independent presses the recognition (and readership) they deserve. About the author: Novelist, short story writer, poet, and columnist, Miljenko Jergovic is a literary phenomenon whose writing is celebrated throughout Europe. His poetry collection Warsaw Observatory received the Goran Prize for young poets and the Mak Dizdar Award and his landmark collection of stories Sarajevo Marlboro received the Erich Maria Remarque Peace Prize. Mama Leone won the highly regarded Premio Grinzane Cavour for the best foreign book in Italy in 2003. His other works include Ruta Tannenbaum, The Walnut House, Buick Riviera, and Father. About the Translator: David Williams translated Dubravka Ugresic's Karaoke Culture, which was a finalist for the National Book Critics Circle award for criticism. He holds a doctorate in Comparative Literature from the University of Auckland. About the Guest Editor: Archipelago Books is a not-for-profit press committed to presenting groundbreaking works of classic and contemporary international fiction and poetry to American readers in outstanding translations. We have brought major works from diverse literary traditions often from cultures overlooked in the U.S. to the national consciousness, increasing cultural exchange and deepening global understanding. Over the past nine years, we have published eighty-five books from more than twenty-five languages including Arabic, Basque, Croatian, Polish, Norwegian, Icelandic, Bengali, and Turkish, among others.
