

Twilight of the Idols

Twilight of the Idols was written in just over a week, between 26 August and 3 September 1888, while Nietzsche was on holiday in Sils Maria. As Nietzsches fame and popularity was spreading both inside and outside Germany, he felt that he needed a text that would serve as a short introduction to his work. Originally titled A Psychologists Idleness, it was renamed Twilight of the Idols or How to Philosophize with a Hammer. The former title, Gotzen-Dammerung in German, is a pun on the title of Richard Wagners opera, Gotterdammerung, or Twilight of the Gods. Gotze is a German word for idol or false god. Walter Kaufmann has suggested that in his use of the word Nietzsche might be indebted to Francis Bacon.
